Clean-Up Day

What started out as a small Mutual-sponsored project snow-balled into a community-wide endeavor on Saturday, April 15, when the town of Wallsburg held their spring cleanup.

The project was launched last month with a poster-making contest advertising the coming clean-up. Free show passes donated by Kent Hiatt were the prizes awarded for the best posters. Then on April 8, the boys of the Wallsburg Mutual with the use of a wrecker donated by Spencer Auto Sales pulled about 40 junk cars out onto the road for future pickup. This community-wide effort climaxed on Saturday, April 15, in a very successful way. Besides the junk cars, there were approximately fifteen dump truck loads of debris hauled away.
